2015 – a year to celebrate at Narrabri West!

2015 certainly has seen lots to celebrate!

This week all students will take home their Semester Two Academic Reports. We are sure you will be impressed with everyone’s achievements and effort.

Next week, most children will be receiving their Platinum Awards. A smaller group of children will be taking home other awards; Bronze, Silver or Gold as part of our Merit Award System. Most of these students have only arrived at our school during the year. On behalf of all the teachers, please congratulate your children on a job well done.

On the sporting field, we have had many students and teams participate at zone, area and state level. All of these students should be congratulated on their efforts.

Our band, recorder, guitar, singing and drum group members have also performed with distinction throughout the year.

We have had parents who helped in many ways with school events. But we have also had parents who help their children with homework and support them and the teachers in so many little ways on a daily basis. Thank you for this.

Of course we should also celebrate the efforts of our teachers. Their efforts this year were, as always, way above and beyond their job descriptions.

Unfortunately at the end of a school year there are always farewells.

We wish our departing Year 6 all the best as they move on to the challenges and excitement of high school. The upcoming Year 6 farewell will be a time for the school to officially say thank you to these wonderful young people who have demonstrated great pride and maturity this year. As a group they have led by example, demonstrating wonderful citizenship and a caring nature towards the wellbeing of the younger children.

But on another note, we look forward to having lots of new faces at our school. We know everyone will make them feel very welcome.
As my daughter crossed the stage, I looked at the screen and started clicking. I got one or two blurry shots of her receiving her rose. But something was wrong. This was a once-in-a-lifetime moment - and I had chosen to watch it through a four-inch screen.

I missed it.

I don't know if my daughter strode confidently across that stage, or if she shuffled quickly with nervous excitement. I don't know if the senior holding out the rose smiled at her. I don't know if her teacher stood on the sidelines, staring into the distance, recalling the many children she'd seen cross that stage. Later my daughter asked me to describe the girl who'd given her the rose. I did my best, but I failed miserably. Because in trying to capture the moment, I'd missed the details that told the story.

And so I've vowed to put my camera away going forward. I'd rather experience my daughter's spring concert than photograph it. I'd rather sing 'Happy Birthday' to my son and enjoy the smiles on his classmates' faces as they feast on cupcakes than watch the festivities through a screen. Because every ounce of energy I put into trying to get the 'perfect shot' - into trying to zoom the camera just right, or get the best lighting or the right angle - is energy I'm not focusing on the present moment. And as my children grow older, I'm realising these are moments I'll never get back.

We tell ourselves that a picture lasts forever, that nothing is more important than preserving our memories. In reality, a photograph of my daughter's school play may or may not be meaningful to me one day. But being fully immersed in her performance while it's happening will mean something to both of us right now. Otherwise I might miss her hesitation as she steps onto the stage, blushing as she spots Mummy and Daddy in the audience. Or a classmate's admiring eyes on her as he pretends to rake construction-paper leaves. Or my husband's nervous breathing as he anxiously awaits the line they spent all night rehearsing. There's a bigger picture in these moments, and it's not inside my iPhone screen.

Sure, when my daughter dresses up for a ceremony, or my son wears a 'scary dragon' for Halloween, that's something worth preserving. But a few photographs before and after the event will suffice - don't need to follow them around like the paparazzi at the expense of their enjoyment and mine. And, frankly, I don't wish to join the wall of parents surrounding the stage, blocking everyone's view in an attempt to get the perfect shot, barking at any hapless bystander who gets in their way. Because at some point, taking photos becomes just another competitive sport in the high-pressure, high-stakes world of parenting. Get closer. Take more. Share faster. Can't we all just sit down and enjoy the show?

And so at the next school function I'll be the parent sitting in my seat, watching my child giggle with a friend, stealing glances at my husband while I admire the intricacies of the set. I'll be taking in every moment, my iPhone nowhere in sight. Because in life, sometimes the most memorable moments happen off-screen. And I'm done missing them.

2016 captain and prefects elections

We have had the speeches for each of the boys and girls who were standing for election to be school leaders in 2016. The speeches were fantastic and really articulated why these very good students should be chosen as our leaders. They really impressed with how far they have come as public speakers, with well organised speeches, including in some cases some humour, but all managed to keep the audience captivated. There was not a candidate that would not make a terrific captain or prefect and they can be very, very proud of their efforts. Of course, after these speeches were completed, Years 2 to 6 voted for the student leaders of their choice.

And now we can announce our leaders for 2016!

The election results were incredibly close, which is not surprising when you consider the high quality of all candidates. We are very excited to announce that the students who received the highest number of votes from the students of Years 2-6, and therefore our school leaders for 2016 are:

Captains: Audrey Atkinson, Riley Longworth

Prefects: Jeremy Alexander, Alex Dean, Leo Hall, Montana Olding, Emma Richardson, Addison Russell

The new school leaders will be presented with their badges on Presentation Night.
A wet ‘n’ wild beach party!

We have held our beach party and what a wet and wild afternoon it was. Everyone spent the afternoon on the water slides and playing water based games which all had as their one main rule, you had to get wet. And everyone did!

Who needs the surf when you have sun, grass, lots of water and burrs!!

There are some photos at the end of this newsletter and also on our website.

Presentation Night - 2 days to go!

Don’t forget this highlight of the school year will be held this Thursday 10th December at Narrabri High School, commencing at 7:00pm. Please join us for what promises to be another great night celebrating the achievements and successes at Narrabri West in 2015.

Carols by Candlelight

Our singing group enjoyed the opportunity to perform at Carols by Candlelight on Sunday night. They looked very much like they were into the Christmas spirit. Events like this make you realise how close Christmas is!!

They will receive their badges at this Friday’s special assembly. Their first duty will be our Swimming Carnival next year.

Max FM broadcasts

In another sign that the end of the year is fast approaching, our captains and prefects have presented their final news broadcast on MAX FM.

They have done a superb job with this all year and are now very accomplished radio newsreaders!

Swimming Carnival 2016

Our 2016 swimming carnival will be held on Friday 5th February. The Narrabri Zone PSSA Swimming Carnival will be held on Friday 19th February. Due to the short timeframe between returning to school next year and the carnival, permission notes were sent home yesterday. The carnival will be for students in Years 3-6, which is in line with PSSA standards and also what most schools do. Students entering Year 2 in 2016, who turn 8 in 2016 and compete in Narrabri Swimming Club events, or are highly competent swimmers and demonstrated this at our Intensive Swimming program earlier this term, may also attend at parents request.

Annual Report 2015

We are currently working on our 2015 Annual Report. A school’s Annual Report incorporates the new approach to school excellence. It provides a mechanism to present evidence of progress towards achieving the school’s improvement measures and changed practices that have been delivered through the implementation of the school plan.

The primary focus of the Annual Report is to provide our community with an account of the school’s progress towards achieving the strategic directions as identified in the school plan. It features a summary of the school’s ongoing self-assessment on the impact of key strategies that lead to growth in student learning. It provides an account of the impact of budgetary expenditure. It includes assessment of the school's progress in learning, teaching and leading using the School Excellence Framework.

The report is the main documentation of our accountability to our community and to the NSW Department of Education.

Our 2015 Annual Report will be released by the Department of Education early in 2016.

School contributions reminder
You are reminded that any outstanding amounts can be paid up until Wednesday 16th December. Pre School parents not up to date with their fees are requested to please settle these accounts this week.

Thank you to everyone who has paid their school contribution and maths textbooks fees this year. These funds allow us to provide additional and better resources to assist your children.

Week 11 activities
Our Platinum Badge assembly will be held on Tuesday 15th December in the hall commencing at 12:30pm. For any parents who may have to leave work to attend, please note that this time it is the turn to announce the awards in reverse alphabetical order, i.e. from Z to A!

We will also have another assembly on Friday 11th December, commencing at 12:30pm, to present additional class awards and a number of other awards to students for their efforts in 2015. We hope you can join us for this as well.

While the school year finishes for students on Wednesday 16th December, our staff will be in attendance until Friday 18th. These will be two very busy and highly valuable days of planning and professional learning.

Who would like to look after Westy Bear for the holidays?
Any students who would like to look after Westy over the Christmas holidays are encouraged to write him a letter telling him what you will be doing so that he can decide whose family he will visit. You can give your letters to Mrs Parker and she and the captains and prefects will read them all with Westy and help him decide.

Year 10 Work Experience Students
Last week we had Year 10 students from Narrabri High School completing their work experience placements here. They worked across our school in a number of classrooms. These students were past Narrabri West students so it was nice to have them part of our school again.

End of Year Countdown
Over the coming weeks, teachers will be sending home student workbooks and other various school materials. Your child’s teacher will inform you when this will be taking place and it’s advisable to send along to school a durable bag or an environmental shopping bag for your child to place these belongings in.

Uniform Room Opening Times
Our Uniform Room will be open at the following times before school returns in 2016 to assist you with your uniform supplies:

- Wed 27th January 10:00am-2:00pm
- Fri 29th January 10:00am-2:00pm
- Sat 30th January 10:00am-2:00pm
- Wed 3rd February 9:00am-11:00am

We will also post reminders on our Facebook page and through Skoolbag.

Thank you -
... to everyone for your support of the school during 2015. We thank you for giving us the opportunity to work with your children and to enjoy their company.

Our staff would also particularly like to thank all parents who have assisted the school in any way, who have visited the school to attend any of our special events, or to help in the canteen, classroom or with sporting events. Your support and assistance is vital.

With only days left in our school year, the staff and students are busy finalising learning programs, assessments and tidying classrooms.

We look forward to Presentation Night where we can acknowledge and celebrate student achievements and a year of learning with family and friends.

Over the past few weeks we have been planning classes and teachers for 2016. These classes will not be finalised until the beginning of 2016 as we will need to place any new enrolments that may arrive at the beginning of the year. Therefore students may not go into their new classes until our final enrolments are known over the first few days. Students will stay in their 2015 classes for probably the first few days.

We look forward to working with you all again next year. Have a happy and safe Christmas!

Next week we will have a special edition of our newsletter with a full list of our Presentation Night awards.

As another busy year nears its end, I will leave you all with a little food for thought that we embrace as educators in our daily journey with children.

Good learners never run out of questions – There’s always more to know. Good learners are never satisfied with how much they know about anything. They are pulled around by questions - the ones they still can’t answer, or can only answer part way, or the ones without very good answers.

Good learners share what they’ve learned. Unless it’s passed on, knowledge is lost. Good learners are teachers and students committed to sharing with others what they’ve learned. They write about it and talk about it. Good learners can explain what they know in ways that make sense to others. They aren’t trapped by specialised language. They can translate, paraphrase and find examples that make what they know meaningful to other learners. They are connected to the knowledge passed on to them and committed to leaving what they’ve learned with others.

Best wishes
Stephen Maher
Principal

On behalf of the students and teachers of the school I would like to thank the members of the P&C for the wonderful support you have given to us over the year. The commitment of a small group of P&C parents who attend each month to talk through the development of the school is recognised and we thank you all. Your help has a great impact on our school.

Our year is almost over! It has been an interesting, rewarding and fun, which will continue this week with our Christmas concerts on Thursday December 10th and Tuesday December 15th. The children have been working hard to prepare. Also, please keep those cards coming in for our card giving days - Friday for Blue Group and next Wednesday for Red Group.

The Beach Party has been fun and the children participated with lots of energy and enthusiasm in the various activities. Look out for our slide show at Pre School.
Thanks to police officers Shane and Christine for talking to the children about their work. They talked about dialing 000 in an emergency and how they needed to know their address. This is a good reminder to teach this to your children, especially with the holidays coming up. It was a wonderful experience and opportunity for the children to see a police car, dress up in police clothes, see police equipment and to ask questions about police work. Police play has been very popular since their visit.

Thank you to Emma’s mum who came in to talk to the children about the work that a nurse does. The children were really interested and loved dressing up in the clothing provided. They have been very involved in nurse and doctor play since.

You will soon be receiving a work sample folder of your child’s work. It has been wonderful to see the progress and achievement of each child over the year. If you would like to discuss your child’s folder or report with me, you are most welcome.

We are asking for some assistance to wash the children’s equipment and toys to help us maintain hygiene. This can be done at home or at school. We thank you for your anticipated support.

We thank you all for your friendship and support throughout the year. We have valued it greatly and enjoyed it very much. It has been a privilege to teach your children. We wish you all the best for next year and for the future as you go on a new adventure to Kindergarten with your children. Remain involved in your child’s schooling and you will all benefit.
